The VMC Group Completes Amber/Booth Acquisition

Bloomingtondale, NJ - Sept. 1, 2006 - The VMC Group, a world leader in innovative shock, seismic, vibration and noise control products, today announced that it has completed the acquisition of VIPT, the parent company of Amber/Booth Co., Houston, Texas, in a transaction valued in excess of $4.35 million.

With the purchase of Amber/Booth, The VMC Group will be positioned with an even larger market share of the industry. The acquisition of Amber/Booth is another key component of The VMC Group's strategy to deliver engineered solutions to its ever-growing global client base. With this expansion, The VMC Group will be able to offer an even more extensive product line and consolidated global representative network. The acquisition provides the most experienced executive management team in the industry.

"We are pleased to have completed this transaction with this particular group," said John Wilson, Jr., chief executive officer, The VMC Group. "With the acquisition of Amber/Booth, we have now assembled the pioneering companies of the vibration control, seismic and shock market into one corporate group. Amber/Booth's 60-year recognized brand of quality products will complement The VMC Group's current portfolio and position as a global leader in the industry. After months of working closely together and having firsthand knowledge of their product line, we are pleased that Amber/Booth's senior management team will join The VMC Group. We are in an excellent position to serve our customers with the highest of standards."
